

Downloading BioArray Software Environment (BASE)

The latest versions of BASE, documentation, plug-ins, and updates can be found at the BASE homepage (<http://base.thep.lu.se/>).

INSTRUCTIONS

To download the software, documentation, plug-ins, and updates:

1. Using any modern web-browser, go to the BASE homepage and click on DOWNLOAD.
2. Follow the instructions on the DOWNLOAD page. Unregistered users will first need to fill out a simple registration form (you will need to enter your name, institution/company, country, and email address). If you have already registered, skip to step 4.
3. An email will be sent to you within a few seconds with your personal registration code.
4. A registered user with a personal access code can follow the 'registered user' link from the DOWNLOAD page to gain access to the files area. You will have to cut-and-paste in your registration code when prompted.
5. Each available file will be listed with its posted date, creator, and any additional notes. Click on the filename (or depending on your web-browser, right-click and select 'Save as...') to download the file to your computer. Installation instructions are included within each release file. Documentation files all available as PDF files.
